Love Is Stronger Than Fear:

Responding Compassionately to Those Who Struggle with Addiction

We live in a society characterized by many forms of addiction. Some people are dependent on alcohol, others, on hard drugs, still others, on pornography, and other forms of addiction.

More recently, many people, including children, are living under the influence of a strong dependence on technology, specifically, cell phones and the internet.

Dare greatly to learn more about these addictions,
and perhaps more importantly,
to begin to explore your own addictive patterns,
as together we open our hearts to all who suffer
from this complex disease.
