A French-language mass has been broadcast on S+L since 2009.

“This is exciting news for the English-speaking Catholic community. It is essential that we reach out to people where they are and offer them a testimony of faith that responds to their search for meaning, their search for love and truth, their thirst for God,” said Archbishop Christian Lépine.

“I am sincerely grateful to Salt + Light Media for being a channel through which the hearts of individuals, families and the world can experience God's Presence, and a means through which people can discover Jesus Christ and vibrant Eucharist-centred faith communities,” he added.
